

As a CPI Instructor you are required to attend and complete a qualifying
IANCICI Instructor Excellence Renewal Course

Autism Spectrum Disorders: Applications of Nonviolent Crisis Intervention[®]

3-day Re-certification training: March 29, 30 and 31, 2010

This three-day, advanced training program helps facilitate a deeper understanding of Nonviolent Crisis Intervention[®] program content as it brings Certified Instructors from prevention through postvention. The program incorporates a variety of autism-specific skills, such as positive behavior support, functional behavioral assessment, and support for individuals with self-injurious behavior.

Attending this program will give you the skills to see crisis through the eyes of individuals with autism spectrum disorders and the confidence to share these skills with other staff members immediately. If you support people with autism spectrum disorders or other communication disabilities or train staff who do, you will find this course a valuable learning opportunity.

Learn and Practice New Strategies to Address Unique Needs

Cost for the 3-day Re-certification program will be $1,525.00 which covers:

- Nonviolent Crisis Intervention[®] concepts, applications and strategies training
- Gaining a deeper understanding about why behaviors occur, how to prevent behaviors from occurring, how to appropriately intervene, and how to structure the postvention process
- Exploring appropriate adaptations and interventions to specifically address the needs and learning styles of people with ASD, and problem solve a variety of scenarios that staff may encounter during a crisis situation when supporting individuals with ASD
- Review physical competencies for CPI Safety Techniques™ and Nonviolent Physical Crisis Intervention™
- Receive Refresher manual pages containing a variety of sample activities and supplemental information
- Receive Valuable Training Resources—Free
- Receive the Journal of Safe Management of Disruptive and Assaultive Behavior: Individuals who Self-Harm
